of the Soul One Dark Night of the Soul () is the third studio album by Taiwanese Mandopop singer Jane Zhang. It was released on 23 June 2013 by Warner Music Taiwan. One Dark Night of the Soul was composed by Jekyll & Hyde and Williams Tufnel. The album was preceded by six singles: "Miss You to the Death" (□□□□), "Tonight" (□□) "Once Upon a Time" (□□□), "□□□□" (□□□□□), "□□□□□" (□□□□□) and "□□□□" (□□□□), in addition to two promotional singles, "Numbah One" (□□□□) and "Princess" (□□□□). The album sold over 110,000 units within its first week on sale. Upon its release, One Dark Night of the Soul became a commercial success. It peaked atop the Taiwanese Weekly Albums Chart and earned platinum certification from the Recording Industry Association of Taiwan. Four singles were successful in the Japanese Oricon singles chart, earning Zhang her second consecutive number-one single and her first to earn gold certification. The album also received wide critical acclaim. Critics praised Zhang's voice and her vocal control throughout the album, earning it the Best LP (All Music, Okayplayer) and Chinese Music Awards for Album of the Year and Best Mandarin Album. Background and release After the release of 2014's Love Everything Go! (□□□□□□□), which reached number-one on the Taiwanese best seller album chart and a certified gold shipment, Zhang was seen struggling with the pressure of being a celebrity. She was signed to record label Warner Music Taiwan (WMT) in 2012, together with other new signings such as Li Li-chun, Jacky Wu, Jay Chou, Jay Kong and Oliver Wang. This album marked the debut for a yet untested new generation of recording stars; many would be notable names in future. In a video interview, Zhang shared she was promised a single week to complete One Dark Night of the Soul as a solution to those pressures. She was not pressured
